Slovakia Pro Bono Week 2026

As part of European Pro Bono Week, Global law firm Dentons is hosting a roundtable business breakfast dedicated to one key question: can an IT platform create an effective nationwide infrastructure for pro bono legal services in Slovakia? Across the country, many law firms and individual lawyers already provide legal assistance without any expectation of payment, while numerous third-sector organizations run well-established initiatives that connect specific clients with specific lawyers under their own rules. Yet there is currently no common, formal or informal platform capable of systematically matching the overall supply of and demand for pro bono legal services.

This event will bring together representatives of law firms, in-house legal teams, NGOs and other stakeholders to explore how such a platform could work in practice – including how to address limited firm capacity and the need for legal support outside Bratislava. Through open discussion and knowledge sharing, the roundtable aims to identify practical requirements, potential models and next steps towards building a coordinated, technology-enabled pro bono ecosystem that improves access to justice for clients across Slovakia.
